59. Vaccination, Green Passports & Bioethics

Vaccination, Green Passports & Bioethics

The influence you have gained in the medical profession is large and broad, and in some respects it has been as God would have it. You have caused the light God has given you to shine forth to others, and this light has influenced others to labor in the different lines of the medical work. But according to the light the Lord has given me, something of the spirit of Freemasonry exists, and has built a wall about the work. The old, regular practice has been exalted as the only true method for the treatment of disease. And to a large degree this feeling has leavened the physicians connected with you. They have resorted to drugs in cases of fever—to break it up, as they have thought. This method has broken up fevers and others diseases, but it has <in some cases> broken up the whole man with it. The Lord has been pleased to present this matter before me in clear lines.

Fever cases need not be treated with drugs. The most difficult cases are best and most successfully managed by nature's own resources. This science, fully adopted, will bring the best results if the practitioner will be thorough. The Lord will bless the physician who depends on natural methods, helping every function of the human machinery to act in its own strength the part the Lord designed it to act in restoring itself to proper action.

The medical fraternity, represented to me as Freemasonry, with their long, unintelligible names, which common people cannot understand, would call the Lord's prescription for Hezekiah quackery. Death was pronounced upon the king, but he prayed for life, and his prayer was heard. Those who had the care of him were told to get a bunch of figs and put them on the sore, and the king was restored. This means was taken by God to teach them that all their preparations were only depriving the king of the power to rally and overcome disease while they pursued their course of treatment, his life could not be saved. The Lord diverted their minds from their wonderful mysteries to a simple remedy of nature.

Drugs never cure disease; they only change its form and location.... When drugs are introduced into the system, for a time they seem to have a beneficial effect. A change may take place, but the disease is not cured. It will manifest itself in some other form.... The disease which the drug was given to cure may disappear, but only to reappear in a new form, such as skin diseases, ulcers, painful, diseased joints, and sometimes in a more dangerous and deadly form.... Nature keeps struggling, and the patient suffers with different ailments, until there is a sudden breaking down in her efforts, and death follows.—How to Live 3:60. HL 243.3

The practitioners are very much in earnest in using their dangerous concoctions, and I am decidedly opposed to resorting to such things. They never cure; they may change the difficulty to create a worse one. Many of those who practice the prescribing of drugs, would not take the same or give them to their children. If they have an intelligent knowledge of the human body, if they understand the delicate, wonderful human machinery, they must know that we are fearfully and wonderfully made, and that not a particle of these strong drugs should be introduced into this human living organism.
Selected Messages Book 2, p. 279.2

Then shall physicians continue to resort to drugs, which leave a deadly evil in the system, destroying that life which Christ came to restore? Christ's remedies cleanse the system. But Satan has tempted man to introduce into the system that which weakens the human machinery, clogging and destroying the fine, beautiful arrangements of God. The drugs administered to the sick do not restore, but destroy. Drugs never cure. Instead, they place in the system seeds which bear a very bitter harvest....

Mass vaccination - Risks versus benefits: Interview with Geert Va

Surgeon warns blanket vaccination of US population could be a 'dangerous medical approach'

Retired surgeon and former U-Penn Medicine professor Dr. Hooman Noorchashm warned that orchestrating a blanket coronavirus vaccination for every American regardless of prior immunity or presence of risk factors could be a "dangerous medical approach."

"If someone is natural immune there's no reason to go and re-vaccinate them, those persons would actually be an unnecessary medical procedure ... This is a very unusual thing," he said.

"We are a literally in the middle of an outbreak where millions of American are naturally infected, or naturally immune. Deploying a vaccine that essentially reactivates the immune responses. So the question is number one is that necessary medical treatment? Number two is that a dangerous medical approach?"

Noorchashm previously told Fox News Channel's "Tucker Carlson Tonight" last month that while the coronavirus vaccine should be viewed as a medical miracle, applying a "one-size-fits-all" approach, as many experts are, could cause more harm to some patients.

Argentina's President Tests Positive for Coronavirus Despite Vaccination

BUENOS AIRES — President Alberto Fernández of Argentina tested positive for Covid-19 on Saturday and was experiencing mild symptoms despite having been vaccinated earlier this year, becoming the latest in a series of world leaders who have contracted the virus.

Mr. Fernández joins a list of world leaders who have contracted the virus, including Andrés Manuel López Obrador of Mexico, Jair Bolsonaro of Brazil, Emmanuel Macron of France and Donald Trump of the United States, during the final months of his presidency.

But Mr. Fernández appears to be the first of those leaders to test positive for Covid-19 after having been fully vaccinated. He received the first dose of Russia's Sputnik V vaccine on Jan. 21 and the second dose on Feb. 11.

Russia's Gamaleya Institute, which developed Sputnik V, wished the president well and said that while the vaccine has an efficacy rate of 91.6 percent, it is fully effective in preventing critical cases. "The vaccination ensures quick recovery without severe symptoms," the institute wrote in a statement on Twitter. "We wish you a quick recovery!"

Covid: new vaccines needed globally within a year, say scientists

The planet could have a year or less before first-generation Covid-19 vaccines are ineffective and modified formulations are needed, according to a survey of epidemiologists, virologists and infectious disease specialists.

Scientists have long stressed that a global vaccination effort is needed to satisfactorily neutralise the threat of Covid-19.

This is due to the threat of variations of the virus – some more transmissible, deadly and less susceptible to vaccines – that are emerging and percolating.

The grim forecast of a year or less comes from two-thirds of respondents, according to the People's Vaccine Alliance, a coalition of organisations including Amnesty International, Oxfam, and UNAIDS, who carried out the survey of 77 scientists from 28 countries. Nearly one-third of the respondents indicated that the time-frame was likely nine months or less.

“New mutations arise every day. Sometimes they find a niche that makes them more fit than their predecessors. These lucky variants could transmit more efficiently and potentially evade immune responses to previous strains,” said Gregg Gonsalves, associate professor of epidemiology at Yale University, in a statement.

“Unless we vaccinate the world, we leave the playing field open to more and more mutations, which could churn out variants that could evade our current vaccines and require booster shots to deal with them.”

US seeing 'fourth wave' of coronavirus infections due to variants: Osterholm

Epidemiologist Dr. Michael Osterholm believes the U.S. is seeing a "fourth wave" of infections due to coronavirus variants that have arisen over the past few months.

"I believe that, in some ways, we're almost in a new pandemic," Osterholm told "Fox News Sunday" host Chris Wallace. "The only good news is that the current vaccines are effective against this particular variant B.1.1.7."

Scientists were concerned that the variant, which proved to spread far easier than the original coronavirus, might also render recently developed vaccines useless.

The vaccines have thus far proven effective at preventing infection, but Osterholm noted a number of other concerns that this particular variant raises.

He referred to the variant as a "game changer" and insisted that the focus needs to be on getting through the next two to three months – as long as people continue to receive vaccinations and follow basic health guidelines, including hand-washing, mask-wearing and social distancing.

Court Order Sought to Protect Public Health and Health Freedom of all Americans

Constitutional litigators Greg Glaser & Ray Flores request the Federal Court to issue an order protecting all Americans from forced vaccination.

New court documents filed in December 2020 prove that unvaccinated

Americans enjoy exponentially better health than vaccinated Americans. Specifically, 1,248% better health for unvaccinated adults, and 1,099% better health for unvaccinated children.

This is not a minor case. The litigators have utilized thousands of pages of top scientific evidence supporting the known fact that vaccines pose very serious dangers to recipients.

National data of vaccinated children show approximately 54% of children have a chronic and degenerative health conditions. But in The Control Group of unvaccinated children, the number is only 6%. That means vaccination causes an 800% increased risk of chronic illnesses in children. And this has now been proven with a 99% confidence interval.

Moreover, this pattern is repeated over and over and over in The Control Group data with 99% confidence: Diabetes (0% in the unvaccinated Control Group v. 10% in the vaccinated), Digestive Disorders (0.4% in the unvaccinated v. 18% in the vaccinated), ADHD (0.47% in the unvaccinated v. 9.4% in the vaccinated).

Covid-19: Seven UK blood clot deaths after AstraZeneca vaccine

Seven people have died from unusual blood clots after getting the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine in the UK, the medicines regulator has confirmed to the BBC.

In total, 30 people out of 18 million vaccinated by 24 March had these clots.

It is still not clear if they are just a coincidence or a genuine side effect of the vaccine.

The Medicines and Healthcare Products Regulatory Agency says the benefits continue to outweigh any risk. The World Health Organization and the European Medicines Agency have echoed this conclusion.

A spokeswoman for AstraZeneca said: "Patient safety remains the company's highest priority."

However, concern has led to other countries including Germany, France, the Netherlands and Canada to restrict the vaccine's use only to older people.

The data released by the MHRA on Friday showed 22 cases of cerebral venous sinus thrombosis (CVST) which is a type of blood clot in the brain... Now the MHRA has confirmed, in an email to the BBC, that "sadly seven have died".

Germany has reported 31 CVSTs and nine deaths out of the 2.7 million people vaccinated there, with most cases in young or middle-aged women.

AstraZeneca Vaccine Changes Its Name

AstraZeneca Vaccine Has Changed Its Name To Vaxzevria

The website of the European Medicines Agency (EMA), shows that the coronavirus vaccine from Anglo-Swedish pharmaceutical company AstraZeneca and the British University of Oxford has changed its name to Vaxzevria, and indicates that Vaxzevria is composed of a modified adenovirus that, since it is not SARS-CoV-2 itself, cannot cause COVID-19.

The portal of the Swedish National Medicines Agency (Läkemedelsverket) confirms that the name change was approved by the EMA on March 25 after a request from the company.

The EMA also claims that the vaccine Vaxzevria of AstraZeneca is safe and effective in preventing new coronavirus in people aged over 18 years old, but that it has lowered its effectiveness from 79 to 76 per cent.

No official reason has been given for the name change, but it could be due to the latest UK-based pharmaceutical crisis that involved its vaccine with cases of thrombosis, with at least a dozen countries in Europe suspending the use of the vaccine, but then resuming once the EMA affirmed that it is "safe and effective" against COVID-19, although without ruling out its relationship with "very rare" cases of coagulation blood associated with thrombosis.

Hanover: Many doctors and staff did not come to vaccination

On Saturday a week ago, 600 doctors and practice staff from the city and region of Hanover were supposed to be vaccinated. However, only 200 people who want to vaccinate appeared at the date.

A frightening signal

The fact that two-thirds do not come to vaccination is a "frightening number and a frightening signal," said the region's finance department responsible for the vaccination center, Cordula Drautz, to the HAZ. It is normal that ten percent of the registered do not come to the vaccination date.

According to the Lower Saxony Medical Association, reservations about the AstraZeneca vaccine are the reason for the low vaccination rate among doctors. A week ago, complications were assumed by the vaccine. Therefore, she can well understand the restraint, President Monika Wenker told the newspaper. The vaccine has now been rehabilitated. Confidence in AstraZeneca must now be rebuilt.

Wristbands and dining cards: New Army policies exclude, isolate unvaccinated

A March 17 memorandum from the commander at the U.S. Army's Fort Drum reservation in New York lists privileges withheld from service members who refuse to get the COVID-19 vaccine — an experimental Emergency Use Authorization product not proven to prevent infection or transmission of the COVID virus.

The memo, "Prohibited Activities for Personnel Within the Authority of the Commander, 10th Mountain Division and Fort Drum," states:

Vaccinated service members can conduct outdoor physical training unmasked. Unvaccinated must wear masks during physical training. Vaccinated personnel may be authorized to conduct unmasked physical training at indoor facilities, "without unvaccinated personnel present."

Saudi Arabia launches 'health passport' for COVID-19 vaccine recipients

Saudi Arabia has launched a digital “health passport,” available through the Ministry of Health’s Tawakkalna app. The ‘passport’ will contain a registry of an individual’s vaccination against the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and confirmation that the individual is immune to the virus, it was announced at a press conference on Thursday.

Health Minister Dr. Tawfiq Al-Rabiah received his second dose of the vaccine on Thursday morning in Riyadh as the Kingdom continues the largest immunization campaign in its history.

During the press conference, Al-Rabiah urged everyone in the country to follow the recommended preventive measures and to start registering for the vaccine, adding more vaccine centers would be opening soon across the Kingdom.

Tánaiste says additional freedoms for the fully vaccinated on the way

Additional freedoms will be granted to people once they have been fully vaccinated, the Tánaiste has said. Leo Varadkar has confirmed the Government is developing a “digital green certificate vaccine pass” for people to prove they have been fully inoculated.

He said the Government would introduce “additional measures for the fully vaccinated, more freedoms for those who have been vaccinated”.

He added: “We are developing a digital green certificate vaccine pass, so you’ll be able to prove that you’re fully vaccinated.”

New York launched Covid-19 digital vaccination passport that will let people go to concerts, sports games

New York on Friday launched an app that lets people prove they have been fully vaccinated against coronavirus or have recently tested negative.

The new "Excelsior Pass" will let people go to weddings, sports arenas, and entertainment venues that host more people than the state's social gathering limit of 10 people indoors and 25 people outdoors, New York State announced in a press release...

"Excelsior Pass is another tool in our new toolbox to fight the virus while allowing more sectors of the economy to reopen safely and keeping personal information secure," Gov. Andrew Cuomo said. "The question of 'public health or the economy' has always been a false choice - the answer must be both." When entering a venue that requires the Excelsior Pass, people will also have to present photo ID that shows their name and birth date, to prove that the pass belongs to them, New York State said.

New Yorkers will still have to follow the state and CDC guidance on social distancing, wearing face masks, and washing hands.

Covid passports: What are different countries planning?

EU leaders have backed introduction of a "Digital Green Certificate", but some countries, inside and outside the EU, have already announced plans for "vaccine passports".

How will the EU vaccine passport work?

The aim of the EU pass is to get travel moving across borders, "without discrimination", but getting it all organised in a short space of time will be a significant challenge. EU leaders have called for legal and technical work to go ahead "as a matter of urgency" while maintaining restrictions on non-essential travel for the moment. The original plan is for the certificate to be in place for the summer but that deadline could be hard to meet.

The certificate, either digital or on paper, will enable anyone vaccinated against Covid, or who has tested negative, or recently recovered from the virus, to travel across all 27 member states. The EU also wants to include non-EU countries such as Norway, Iceland and Switzerland.

Germany: NRW doubles down on shopping restrictions after court ruling

Germany's western state of North Rhine-Westphalia (NRW) has extended coronavirus restrictions on shops after a court ruled the existing measures on retail businesses were unfair.

The court's decision on Monday meant that mandatory visitor appointments and limitations of customers per square meter in stores would be dropped with immediate effect.

In response, the state has stretched the customer booking requirement and limitations to include shops that were initially exempt.

NRW Health Minister Karl-Josef Laumann said his government was "consistently implementing" the court's decision.

According to the Higher Administrative Court in Münster, the restrictions "in their current form" violated the constitutional principle of equal treatment.

“The moral status of an infant is equivalent to that of a fetus ... the same reasons which justify abortion should also justify the killing of the potential person when it is at the stage of a newborn.”

<https://www.corbetteport.com/bioethics/>

“Cases where the newborn has the potential to have an (at least) acceptable life, but the well-being of the family is at risk.”

Vaccine Hesitancy

- recent US polls “suggest only 3 in 4 people would get vaccinated if a COVID-19 vaccine were available, and only 30% would want to receive the vaccine soon after it becomes available.”
- A recent Pew survey suggested 49% of adults in the USA would refuse a COVID-19 vaccine in September 2020
- If these results prove accurate then even if a safe and effective vaccine is produced herd immunity will be significantly delayed by vaccine hesitancy at a cost to both lives and to the resumption of normal life, and at worst, it may never be achieved.

Other Coercive Practices in Public Interest

- Conscription in war
- Taxes
- Seat Belts
 - 50% of Americans opposed making seat belts mandatory but now 70% believe mandatory laws are justified.
 - Seat belts reduce the chance of death by 50%. They are very safe and effective.
 - Notably, they do cause injuries (seat belt syndrome) and death. But the chances of being benefitted are vastly outweighed by wearing them. And they protect other occupants in the car. So they are mandatory and people are fined if they don't wear them.
- Mandatory Vaccination
 - No Jab, No Pay (Australia)
 - No Jab, No Play
 - Fines (Italy)
 - School entrance (US)
- Difference between Mandatory and Compulsory – both employ coercion
- Collective Duty of Easy Rescue

Corporacracy: Great Reset will wipe out middle class and medium-sized enterprises

The Great Reset is a so-called corporatocracy project in which power and government will come from the corporations: "Increase in prosperity for the few, economic equality under reduced conditions, including universal basic income, for the rest".

Anyone who sees the Great Reset initiative of the World Economic Forum (WEF) only as the creation of a new economic model in accordance with the guidelines of stakeholder capitalism is mistaken. The initiative aims to change our thinking, our way of life, our eating habits and our interaction with each other sustainably.

“STAY HOME ON WEEKENDS”- Jamaica PM Imposes Lockdown for the Next Three Weeks

It was already evident to Jamaicans and members of the diaspora given the number of COVID-19 cases over the past month and the state of the hospitals, but on Sunday, March 21, Prime Minister Andrew Holness declared that Jamaica had reached its breaking point in the management of the COVID-19 pandemic.

To curb the spike in cases, Jamaicans will have to stay at home for the next three weekends. The lockdowns would begin from midday on Saturdays to Mondays at 5 a.m. During the Easter holidays, the lockdown will commence on Good Friday, April 2 to 5 a.m. on April 6th.

The fines range from JMD $3000 for tier one offenses like using a river outside of the specified times to JMD $500,000 for tier ten offenses like operating a bar, club, or attraction during a prohibited period.

Madhya Pradesh extends Sunday lockdown to four more districts, restrictions in 13 cities reporting over 20 COVID cases daily

The lockdown in total seven districts will begin at 10 PM on Saturday and end at 6 am on Monday. It may be noted that the Sunday lockdown is already in force in Indore, Bhopal and Jabalpur cities of the BJP-ruled state.

In the cities where more than 20 cases are being reported daily, and in the districts where the average new cases per week are more than 20, only 50 persons can attend a marriage ceremony and only 20 people can take part in the last rites.

Besides swimming pools, gyms and cinema halls too will remain closed in such districts, the state government officials said. Only take-away service will be allowed at restaurants in such districts. Public halls will be allowed to function with 50 per cent capacity.

Isa 63:12 That led them by the right hand of Moses with his glorious arm, dividing the water before them, to make himself an everlasting name?

Again and again I have been instructed that the medical missionary work is to bear the same relation to the work of the third angel's message that the arm and hand bear to the body. Under the direction of the divine Head they are to work unitedly in preparing the way for the coming of Christ. The right arm of the body of truth is to be constantly active, constantly at work, and God will strengthen it. But it is not to be made the body. At the same time the body is not to say to the arm, "I have no need of thee." The body has need of the arm in order to do active, aggressive work. Both have their appointed work, and each will suffer great loss if worked independently of the other.—Testimonies for the Church 6:288.
